Grant Sets Stage For Dorm Building

A federal grant, which is in effect the final go-ahead for preparation of construction of two high-rise dormitories and a dining hall addition at West Texas State University, has been approved.

Sen. John Tower announced last weekend approval by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) of a $55,800 grant.

WTSU financial vice president Virgil Henson said this week the grant is the final go-ahead needed before the university could advertise for bids for the construction.

The two dorms and dining hall addition are expected to cost more than $3 million.

Upon learning of the grant, Henson said he talked with architects Tuesday morning and bids for the construction will be taken April 28.

Bonds for the construction will be sold April 30.

"If we get good bids on the construction, we'll be in business," Henson said.

He said the contract for the buildings' construction could be let on May 1.

The grant from HUD was requested last fall. It is essentially to cover interest on loans.

University regents took the first formal step toward construction of the buildings during their January meeting when they signed an agreement with Russ & Co., Inc. and Emerson & Co. for services as financial advisors in connection with the sale of $3,250,000 in revenue bonds.

The two dormitories are to be located in the northeastern portion of the campus. The men's dormitory is to be seven stories and the women's dorm is to be six stories.

A two-story addition to the East Dining Hall is also planned.

Currently, WTSU has four men's residence halls and four women's residence halls.

Students travel to and from classes with little knowledge that anything's amiss (above), while inside, Canyon firemen, police, sheriff's officers and security officers are making a search for a bomb in the University Complex South.

Bomb Threat Stirs WT; Officers Assume A Hoax

The threat that a bomb was hidden in the University Complex South on the West Texas State University campus greeted students as they returned to classes Tuesday morning.

About 7:50 a.m. Tuesday, the university switchboard received the threat and by 9:30 a.m., the complex and administration building had been searched by various local agencies.

Mrs. Ocie Parsons, switchboard operator, said she received the threat and the caller appeared to have a "mature male voice."

He told her a bomb was hidden in the University Complex South. He also told her to call the university business office and tell them of the bomb.

Mrs. Parsons said she phoned Business Manager Clarence Eugene Thompson and Security Chief Bobby Hudson.

At 8:15 a.m., Hudson called in Canyon police and Randall County Sheriff's deputies to help conduct a search of the building.

Students began attending classes in the complex at 8 a.m.

No students were evacuated from the building for the search.

"It was obvious on the face of it that it was a million to one chance it was a hoax," said University President James P. Cornette. Dr. Cornette said the search was conducted as quickly as possible.

"We did not attempt to evacuate because in the first place there is no way to evacuate 4,000 students that quickly," Dr. Cornette said, "and when we had accomplished the thing, we'd just be playing into the hands of the people who caused the excitement."

Members of the fire department and the law enforcement agencies were divided into teams and each team made a routine search of the building.

Hudson said the teams "checked the areas anyone could have had access to at that time of morning considering the area was still locked and no one should have been able to get in."

He said evacuation was not thought necessary because most of the classrooms and offices in the buildings were locked and a quick search could be made of the other areas.

"We figured it as a hoax to

Andy Hanson Is Named To Academy

Andy Hanson has been appointed to the US Air Force Academy by Congressman Bob Price.

Hanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hanson, is a senior at Canyon High School.

He was named last season to the all-district football team and the West Texas scholastic football team. Andy was a captain of the Canyon Eagles last fall.

He is vice president of the Canyon High School National Honor Society Chapter and has served in various other school and class elective offices.

Congressman Price said Hanson was chosen because of his above average qualifications and his appointment will not count against the quota for this congressional district.

Race Track Group Buys County Land

The first step toward construction of a horse racing and training track in Randall County was taken Tuesday with the purchase by a group of area men of 330 acres of land from the First National Bank of Hereford.

The land is located one-half mile west of Umbarger.

Charles Sanders, chief executive officer of the corporation, said surveying of the land is expected to begin within 10 days.

As soon as survey work is completed and ground work laid, construction will begin.

The track, to be known as Panhandle Downs, will be owned by a corporation made up of area ranchers and horse breeders.

It is to host about 72 days of horse racing each year.

Sanders said construction at the site will begin almost simultaneously on a two-story private club and restaurant. The restaurant is to be located on the lower floor. The building will be 58' by 100'.

In addition, five barns will be constructed, each of which will house 50 horses. The barns will be 340 feet long and 36 feet wide.

Also to be constructed immediately is an administration building to house offices.

Location of the track in Randall County was announced in February.

Housing for as many as 700 horses year-round is expected to be the goal of the corporation.

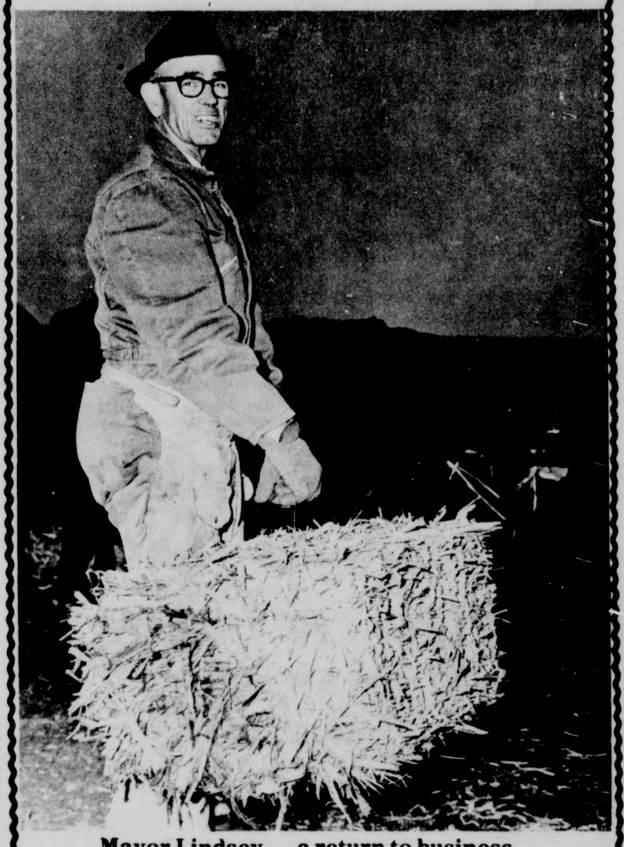
Sanders said the track will be used primarily for training horses to race on other tracks. No paramutuel betting will be allowed at the track.

As many as 30 trainers and helpers could be employed at the track.

The track itself is to be a ⅞ mile oval with a 510-yard straight-away.

The grandstands will accomodate 4,000 persons.

In addition to races each weekend throughout the year, the group hopes to sponsor futurity and charity races.



Mayor Lindsey... a return to business.

Leaving Office, He Eyes Future

Even though he's a farmer and rancher, Paul Lindsey's business for almost 30 years has been Canyon.

He relinquishes managerial duties of that business tonight, but he will never relinquish his stock in the city.

Adjournment of tonight's city commission meeting will be Mayor Lindsey's final official act. He'll turn over the reins of the city to a new mayor next week.

Lindsey did not run for re-election this year after serving almost 16 years on the city commission as mayor.

His career in public service to Canyon began in 1937, though, when he joined the volunteer fire department. He also served various stints with the chamber of commerce.

"There's no question but what I'll miss it," he said. "Certainly there have been many enjoyable experiences working with the commissioners and citizens of Canyon on projects we felt were beneficial to the community.

"There have been a few dissapointments, but not enough to make me regret the time I've given."

In giving up his mayoral seat, Lindsey said he has no desire to continue service to Canyon in any position other than private citizen.

"I'm certainly interested in Canyon just as much as I've ever been in regard to its future," he said. "But, I feel like it's time for somebody else to occupy the position I've occupied for the

New Fund-Raising Club Sees $150,000 Goal

A new fund-raising organization, which will replace all other such groups at West Texas State University, vowed Monday night to raise $150,000 before Sept. 1 for WTSU athletic scholarships.

The Buffalo Club, which has been in the formative stages several months, officially got off the ground as 24 Amarillo and area men met at an initial board of director's meeting.

The directors elected officers, approved a constitution and by-laws and listened as their new president outlined a comprehensive program of fund-raising.

The club will replace such other fund-raising groups at WTSU as the C-Noters, BAM Club and Touchdown Club.

"We're talking about money," said newly-elected president Boyce Box. "I want to share some ideas I had that have worked other places."

Each director at the meeting selected a person outside the directorate to chair a fund-raising committee.

Box said temporary office of the Buffalo Club will be in Amarillo.

An executive director for the club may be hired. Box said WTSU had said they will employ the director at a $12,500 per year salary.

True to Box's statement, the main concern of the meeting was the raising of scholarship money for WTSU athletes.

Head Coach Joe Kerbel told the directors that if WTSU is accepted into the Missouri Valley Conference, about $150,000 needs to be raised by Sept. 1.

"I don't think that's out of reach at all," he said. "Last year, myself and another man raised $25,000 in a month's time."

Kerbel recommended--and it was later accepted--that the Buffalo Club be broken down into smaller units, dependent on the amount of money donated.

Those giving $100 per year would be in the C-Noter division. Those donating $500 per year would be in the Stampede Club division, those giving $1,000 annually would be in the Thunder Club division and

Decision Delayed On Road Request

Area representatives appearing before the Highway Commission to request road improvements here were told that a decision would be announced by the commission at a later date.

Making the trip to Austin to appear before the commission were Virgil Henson, representing West Texas State University; Glenn Dowlen and Bill Butler, county commissioners representing Randall County; and Paul Lindsey, mayor of Canyon.

Senator Grady Hazlewood appeared before the commission with the group.

Henson acted as spokesman.

The delegation requested the temporary closing of the center median on US 87 at the Hunsley Crossing about a mile north of Canyon.

Construction of a grade separation crossover or overpass at the Hunsley Road intersection with US 87 was also requested.

The delegation requested that Hunsley Road east from US 87 to its point of intersection with Washington Street be designated as a Farm to Market Road.

Henson pointed out to the commission that the road improvementas are badly needed by the university. He said that with 3,700 students commuting from Amarillo means of handling traffic is acutely needed.

He told the commission that there are plans in the mill to double the size of Buffalo Bowl. He noted that this will require additional avenues for traffic.

Temporary closing of the center median at the intersection of US 87 and Hunsley Road was requested as a

School Election Set Saturday

Three men will seek two vacancies on the Canyon Independent School District board of trustees when school district residents go to the polls Saturday.

Seeking the two open posts are Harold Erwin and J. O. Parker, incumbents, and Michael "Mike" Morris who is making his first bid for public office.

Polls open at 7 a.m. and will close at 7 p.m. Polling places will be the American Legion Hall in Canyon and Gene Howe School in South Amarillo.

Voters may cast ballots for the county school board only at the American Legion Hall. County Judge Carroll Brown said the county school trustee election will be strictly write-in this year as no one has filed for any of the five vacancies.

Brown is ex officio county school superintendent. Members of the county board of trustees include Roger Gist, Jr., J.D. Barker, Don Marsh and Bob Skinner. Don Dean was a member until he resigned upon being appointed district judge.

Interest in the school board election is lagging this year according to officials at the school tax office in the county court house where absentee ballots have been cast. As of late Tuesday only three persons had voted absentee. Absentee voting ended Tuesday evening.

Election officials include Aubrey Crossland who will preside as election judge at the Legion Hall and Bill Harp who will conduct the election at Gene Howe.

Parker is a veteran member of the Canyon school board of which he currently is president. Parker is a farmer and rancer who has spent most of his life in Randall County.

He attended public school in Canyon and went to New Mexico A&M. He has no children currently in public schools here but three Parker children are graduates of Canyon High School.

Erwin, a local farmer, is a graduate of Canyon High School and long-time resident of the community. One son was graduated last year from CHS and two other Erwin children are attending public schools here.

Morris is a Canyon insuranceman. He and Mrs. Morris have five children, four in school and one a pre-schooler.

Morris has lived in Canyon 23 years and during most of that time has been active in affairs of the community.

Amarillo Foundation To Aid WT In Center Expansion

The Amarillo Area Foundation, Inc., will help West Texas State University carry the ball in seeking funds for a $1 million expansion of the Killgore Research Center.

After hearing such a proposal by a university official Monday, the foundation board voted to form a committee to concentrate on how to raise the needed money.

Dr. Emmitt Smith, WTSU vice president for research and program development, spoke to the foundation membership at a noon meeting on campus and urged them to form a committee to study the merits and feasibility of such espansion.

But, apparently the foundation went farther than that.

Dr. Smith and Dr. James P. Cornette, university president, agreed following the meeting that action by the foundation board of directors indicated the foundation will assume more of a leadership position in attempts to raise funds for the center expansion.

The foundation has been instrumental in recent years in raising money for various projects, including the construction of High Plains Baptist Hospital in Amarillo.

Dr. Smith appeared before the foundation at their last year's meeting and proposed at that time, they support efforts of the university, including efforts to expand the Killgore center.

He noted at Monday's meeting the rapid rise in enrollment at the university in the past year and the anticipated enrollment in future years.

During last year's meeting, Dr. Smith also proposed the foundation work to bring facilities at Amarillo's helium research center to the WTSU campus.

His proposal proved to be far-sighted, since the federal government in February ordered the Amarillo helium research center closed by

PRPC Discusses Hiring Director

The Panhandle Regional Planning Commission met in executive session after a regular meeting Wednesday and appointed a five-member board to review applications for an executive director.

A similar board has studied applications of director hopefuls.

Named to the board were R. B. Mills, Ken Olsen, E. H. Foster, Dr. Don Hackley and Mayor Pete Burton.

In other business, Canyon City Manager Howard Northcutt outlined for the commission the agenda and topics of discussion of the April 29 meeting in Canyon of between 250 and 750 area civic leaders.

Gov. Preston Smith is to speak at the meeting, which will be hosted by Canyon.

Northcutt said representatives from 49 cities, 25 counties, various chambers of commerce and water conservation districts are invited to the meeting.

The all-day conference will be highlighted by a noon speech by Gov. Smith.

During the morning session, speakers from various state governmental units will speak on various topics, including drug abuse, solid waste, councils of government and industrial development.

Registration is to begin at 8:30 a.m. The meeting will be on the West Texas State University campus.

The PRPC received a letter from John J. Kamerick, president of North Texas State University, concerning a letter from the commission in support of WTSU's possible bid to join the Missouri Valley Conference.

Kamerick's letter stated that "As best as I can determine there is considerable support for West Texas State University, and I know that the commissioner of the conference is well disposed to membership."

The commission also acknowledged a letter from Dr. G. Mason Kahn, chairman

FROM THE CANYON RIM

R.A Smith twitted us and I suppose rightly so for the story we carried about the Rock Festival at Lubbock.

I don't suppose you could call a gathering entirely peaceful if law enforcement officials find it necessary to throw 160 in jail. I understand that is what happened at Lubbock.

But the rock groups and present-day youngsters don't have a corner on being rowdy. I remember that as a cub reporter I was sent to Fort Worth to cover a state American Legion convention.

The vets blocked traffic in front of the Texas Hotel which served as Legion headquarters and half dozen crap games were in progress in broad daylight right out in the street.

There is talk of banning cigarette advertising by law. Smoking has been in bad repute with the government for some time now.

I find it rather foolish to ban advertising on smokes because they can be injurious to a persons health and then permitting alcoholic beverages to be advertised while they undoubtedly figure in countless thousands of traffic deaths each year.

Also I find it inconsistent to ban advertising on either cigarettes or liquor and yet allow automobile manufacturing firms to advertise autos which will go 140 miles an hour.

I understand next to liquor, speed is the most prevalent cause of deaths on the highways.

We have several types of government in our country.

There is the civil law which often is unable to protect members of society when they need it most. Also the laws of our community and country are all too often either written or enforced in such a way as to favor certain stratas of society.

Then there's the mafia which has its own law almost completely disregarding the laws of the land except to manipulate those who make, enforce and dispense the laws.

Another group is the dissidents who are in fact anarchists and who believe in no law.

Members of the mafia are very interested in strict law enforcement---enforcement of their own laws. I read somewhere the other day that there is a little town in New Jersey with a crime rate of zero.

The mafia dons live in the town and they enforce the law. Anyone who dares to disturb the status quo there just disappears.

It was easy to predict. I predicted it in print 17 years ago when the truce went into effect in Korea.

The Communists are intent on conquest of Southeast Asia. The so-called "internal" war in Vietnam was a part of that conquest unfolding.

Now we hear that North Vietnam has almost as many soldiers in Laos and Cambodia as it has in South Vietnam. There are 100,000 regulars in South Vietnam, 67,000 in Laos and 48,000 in Cambodia.

These figures are from the current issue of US News & World Report.

I suppose the Ho Chi Minh lovers will again proclaim that what is going in Cambodia and Laos is just between home folks and no one should interfere.

Maybe we won't interfere. If we don't, we can expect the entire subcontinent of Asia to fall to the aggressors. This means India and eventually Australia...who knows maybe even Japan and the Phillipines.

Control of the rich rice basket of Asia will give the reds ever increasing power.

Time is on their side. After all, Ho and his cronies planned the present caper that has cost us so dearly about 40 years ago.

Our World

BY Ann Brown

Whatever the weaknesses of our churches,schools, and government,one can be sure they are created by the personnel. Where do the people come from who staff our institutions? Our homes. Where else? American institutions will never be any better than American homes.

What caused the decay of our homes, and the infection which has spread to all our institutions?

The causes are complex, of course, but the basic source of infection is lack of parental discipline. Many youngsters who grew up during the Depression were determined to save their children from the character-building deprivations they suffered. When this well-meaning philosophy was added to the theory that discipline might warp children's little psyches, a generation matured with the conviction that to do as one pleased was an inherent right.

There is no magic in parenthood that turns a selfish, immature, irresponsible person into a responsible adult. Discipline, like everything else, can be taught only by example.

The average American wife will rule her husband if he will permit it,and despise him if he does. But, if a father cannot discipline himself to take his place as head of the house, and provide food, clothing, shelter, and protection for his family, he cannot expect to discipline his children.

A mother who cannot force herself to treat her husband with courtesy and respect, keep the house comfortably clean, prepare good, nourishing meals, take care of the laundry and other clothing problems, and maintain a pleasant atmosphere in the home, cannot hope to guide or discipline her children.

Parents who smoke tobacco, drink alcohol, live on tranquilizers, overeat, fight like shrews, and shirk their responsibilities, need not anticipate respect or obedience from their children. Respect must be earned. If such parents attempt to discipline or advise their teenagers, they are likely to be silenced with "Look who's talking."

The most learned authorities agree that a child's emotional balance is probably formed by his first birthday, and his moral fiber is fairly well set by the time he enters school. All the propaganda he may encounter at school, church, or in the alley is not likely to alter the pattern of development started in his home.

The well-meaning programs proposed by church, school, and government, in efforts to compensate for parental neglect are not likely to do so. Our present school-lunch program results in the waste of enough food to feed all the hungry children in America. (Anyone who doubts that should check the garbage cans in almost any school cafeteria.)

An now we have some misguided people who are determined to feed school children breakfast, too, because so many parents send their children to school unfed. Institutions cannot compensate for parental love and care; state orphanages are eloquent proof of that fact.

It took a whole generation to bring up spoiled, undisciplined children to become the irresponsible parents of the nihilist generation. It will probably take at least a generation to reverse the trend.

If the confused, frustrated, defeated members of this generation manage to survive,they will have to return to the moral and spiritual values of their successful forebears.

Truth is truth, and it does not change with time. The family is the divine foundation of society. If we would improve society, we must improve--not supplant--family life.

The original communist goal was to destroy the family unit and replace it with the state. Even the slow-thinking Russinas have abandoned that idea.

Anytime God had a great work to do, He began with a God-fearing mother. When He built the mighty Hebrew nation, He did not begin with any government, but with one consecrated mother. Jochebed's son, Moses, became the "government" some 80 years later. Hannah, Elizabeth, and Mary were instruments God used to bless the world.

A home has to be built from the bottom up--not from the top down. If we would return honor, integrity, productivity, and joy to our land, we must begin in our homes. The healing influence will then spread to our churches, schools, and government. May God grant us the time.

Buffs Host Tulsa Here Thursday

West Texas State University's Buffaloes host the University of Tulsa at 3 p.m. Thursday in a highly important game for the young Buffs.

Tulsa compiled a 39-5 record last year and reached the finals of the NCAA College World Series. The Tulsa club will compete an 11-game road swing westward with the game against West Texas. Tulsa was ranked third nationally prior to the season.

Included in the teams played on the trip were Air Force Academy, University of Southern Colorado, Oregon State, Arizona State, Stanford University, Nevada, Iowa, Arizona and New Mexico.

The Buffaloes of coach Bob Sloan were to have played two games Monday against Texas Tech's Red Raiders in Lubbock. Prior to that doubleheader they had a 9-2-1 season record. The tie came in a 1-1, 10 inning game last week against Abilene Christian College, which was called because of darkness.

Bob Sine, who has a 1-1 season record and is hitting 300, is scheduled to hurl the game for West Texas against Tulsa. Sine plays right field when he isn't pitching.

those donating $1,500 annually would be in the Bison category.

Kerbel said plans call for those donating $1,000 per year to park inside the fence at home Buffalo football games.

Also discussed was priorities on game tickets for those donating a high amount.

Kerbel stressed that the university athletic department needs about 100 scholarships in addition to what it now offers.

He said scholarships are much needed in the spring sports.

The directors also discussed the need to solicit funds from many firms and persons formerly unasked.

Kerbel read a list of donations received by Texas Tech's athletic department for scholarships.

The club's by-laws, which were approved at the meeting, call for not less than 20 nor more than 40 directors. It calls for an annual spring meeting of the membership, an executive director and an executive committee.

In addition, the by-laws say all funds contributed to the club will be placed in a special fund with the WTSU business office, which is to keep account of the funds. The executive committee of the club will have the power to dispense funds only for operating expenses and scholarships. An audit will be conducted of the funds each year or as directed by the directors.

Public attention was turned on the dangerous intersection by means of editorials and stories in The Canyon News following a traffic fatality there late last year.

Several other persons were to have made the trip to Austin Wednesday morning for the hearing but were prevented by bad weather.

Henson said the conference was "very satisfactory and that his group was told that the commission would take the matter under advisement.

of the PRPC health planning committee. Although the matter was tabled at the meeting, Kahn's letter was included on the agenda.

It stated that the health planning committee met March 19 and unanimously approved the establishment of a degree program in nursing at WTSU. It said the committee recommended all efforts be made to obtain the program for WTSU.

Tabled by the commission was discussion of a slogan for the PRPC. Canyon City Commissioner had suggested the commission have a slogan. He suggested "Planning for the Development and Growth of the Texas Panhandle."

The PRPC also accepted into membership Wednesday the city of Shamrock. Two representatives from Shamrock were present at the meeting.

start with," Hudson said, "but every precaution was taken just in case."

Meanwhile, students in the classroom building hit the books as if nothing was amiss on their return.

Bomb threats have become common in major cities in the East and West and Amarillo has had several bomb scares.

Mayor. . . .

last few years.

"It may well be that some problems will arise I can be of some help on and I certainly wouldn't be against that happening."

During his service as a commissioner and mayor, Lindsey feels city government has had many accomplishments.

"One of the real accomplishments was obtaining water back when we went out north of Umbarger and obtained a new water field," he said. "We were for all practical purposes out of water at that time."

But, he pointed out, "this is not to be to my credit because I'm just one of the commission and the commission should be credited with whatever progress Canyon has made."

There were many other things the mayor could point to as far as accomplishments in 20 years. And there are many things he'd like to see done.

"There should be a continued effort on the part of the city to obtain a grade separation at 15th Street and U.S. 60," he said. "I certainly think we need to continue to work on the water shortage problem."

He said a new city hall and library should also be goals of future commissions.

After tonight's meeting, the mayor will spend more time attending to his farm and ranch.

But, he says he'll continue working for growth of the city. It's in his blood.

As he said at last month's chamber of commerce banquet:

"...'Let's don't dwell on what we've done in the 1960s. Let's look forward to what we can do feasibly in the '70s. Let's go forward for the '70s. They hold a much greater future than we had in the '60s."

At Monday's meeting, Dr. Smith said the possibilities are still good the helium center can be moved to the university campus. If so, it is to be housed in the Killgore center.

And for it to be housed in the Killgore center, the center must be expanded, Dr. Smith said.

The transfer of the helium research to the campus, he said, would accomplish several things: it would generate and continue valuable research on and about helium, it would allow the Panhandle to continue as the world center of helium research, it would keep intact a group of researchers of national fame, it would bring $.5 million in research equipment to the WTSU campus.

In addition, the helium research group could branch out and explore research in air and water pollution, he said.

"Our problem is that we need space," he said.

Dr. Smith said 20 doctoral level scientists now carry on research in the Killgore center. He noted that some other research is going on in other areas of the campus.

He said when the Killgore center was completed several years ago, university personnel realized the facility would have to be enlarged.

Dr. Smith proposed that the center be expanded by phases.

The first phase would be the addition of laboratory space to the north side of the first floor. About 9,000 square feet of floor space could be added.

The second phase would involve construction of a second floor, which would double the lab space of the center.

Estimated cost for phase I is $300,000, he said, and for phase II $761,600.

The two CHS graduates listed are Curtis Dale Mobley, 1969; and Judith Ann Parson, 1963.

In citing the Texas figures, Foundation President Hans Rosenhaupt emphasized that the number of Woodrow Wilson Fellows is only one measure of later scholastic success of Texas High School gradautes. Canyon Study Club Tours Art Gallery

Canyon Art Gallery was toured by 19 members of the Canyon Study Club March 17 as Mrs. James P. Cornette, wife of the president of West Texas State University and owner-operator of the gallery, conducted a tour of the gallery.

Mrs. Cornette spoke about art and as the tour progressed she discussed paintings and painter's works shown in the gallery.

After the tour, the club members re-convened at the home of Mrs. H.T. Carr for a regular monthly business session during which Mrs. Rhett Plank was welcomed as a new club member.

During the business session, the club discussed the district convention to be held inn Shamrock April 2-3 and it was noted that several members are planning to attend. The club also discussed place favors being made for the general convention this summer.

After the treasurer's report and secretary's reports, Mrs. Weyman Brown discussed with the group a recent meeting on the formation of a ladies branch of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce. She urged other members to attend the forming sessions of the women's branch and related that other meetings of the branch would be held soon.

The club's recent "Miss Canyon" (Cynthia Byars) was recognized for her participation in the Miss Irish Rose contest where she was declared first place beauty in the pageant at Shamrock recently.

After the meeting, refreshments were served following at St. Patrick's Day theme. Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Carr, Mrs. June Jones, Mrs. Linda Pratt and Mrs. Judy Castleberry.

Younger boys and those new to the Troop completed steps toward the second class badge which requires three five mile hikes with complete gear and also steps for outdoor cooking.

Cliff Prichard, a sophomore, and his brother, Stan, a sixth grade student, completed an additional ten mile hike working toward the hiking merit badge. Cliff is completing requirements for the highest rank in scouting, the Eagle award.

Adult leaders directing the activites were Marvin Fite, scoutmaster, and Dwight Hardin, assistant scoutmaster. Boys attending were Collin Weaver. Don Collins, Cliff and Stan Prichard, Matt, Paul and Ross Griffin, Roy and Cruz Luna and David Fite. Unable to attend because of being out-of-town were Ben Richardson and Bob Splawn.

Tee Time

HI FLYING EAGLES

Coach L. H. Brotherton's Hi Flying Eagles have sounded a warning to all challengers that they are determined to have a berth at the Odessa Regional Meeting April 24-25th, which will determine who goes to State. The Eagles increased their lead in the North Zone 1-AAA District to 67 strokes after carding a team total of 299 on the 5608-yard sporty Canyon Country Club Golf Course.

Perryton finished second with a total of 341; and Dumas winding up third with a 369. District standings at this time are Canyon 611: Perryton-678; and Dumas-694. The North Zone title will be determined in Perryton, Saturday April 11th; 9:00 a.m.

The Canyon District Match looked like it might become a victim of the weather when a four-inch snow fell in the valley golf course Saturday , however, the pre-favorite Eagles turned out in force Sunday to sweep snow off the C. C. C. greens. Medalist Joe Ziegler, 15 year old budding golf star, paced the Meet with a blistering 72 on the wet, muddy course, with snow banked up a foot deep in places. Larry Daniels shot a 75; Randall Burton and Mike Shadix both had 76's; and Richard Thompson also broke 80 with a 79.

The Canyon B-Team also was victorious with a First Place team total of 348; Kenny Jones-78; Bill Lee-89; and Bobby Brotherton made his debut with an 89; Mark Read-92; and March Chitwood-94. Congratulations Eagles.

Cold Winter Still Around

Winter weather continued this week after a blizzard last weekend which stranded hundreds of motorists and brought county traffic to a standstill.

Drizzle, light rain and intermittent snow continued Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in Canyon as temperatures hovered in the 20s and 30s.

Remnants of the blizzard which blasted the area Friday night still remained in the city in the form of snow patches.

Thirty-five mile-per-hour winds hoisted a heavy snow into Canyon about 7 p.m. Friday. The blizzard continued through the night and by daybreak Saturday more than 200 travelers had sought shelter in the city's motels.

Twenty-five persons found refuge in Canyon's city hall annex.

The U.S. Weather Bureau calls for decreasing cloudiness today with higher temperatures. The high today is expected to be in the upper 40s. No precipitation is anticipated.

Commission Candidates File Expense Statements With Clerk

With less than a week to go before voters elect a new mayor and two city commissioners, candidates filed expense statements this week with the city clerk.

The statements, which list all expenses, gifts, loans and debts occurred by candidates for their campaigns, are required by state law.

The statements indicate that the two mayoral candidates have spent more on their campaigns than the four commission candidates jointly.

Expense statements for the candidates were as follows:

Dr. J. Manly Bryan--no gifts, no loans, expenses of $225.44.

Bernard Warren--no gifts, no loans, expenses of $62.14.

H.R. Fulton--no gifts no loans, expenses of $59.85.

Dean Schaeffer--no gifts, no loans, expenses of $67.20.

Floyd Kiser--no gifts, no loans, expenses of $53.40.

Jim Christopher--no gifts, no loans, expenses of $31.

Dr. Bryan and Warren are seeking election to the mayor's seat here, while Fulton and Schaeffer are vying for place 2 on the commission and Kiser and Christopher are vying for place 3 on the commission.

Fulton and Christopher are incumbents.

City election is April 7.

Dear friends,

The funeral with the body present impresses the reality and finality of death upon the minds and emotions of the bereaved. Prominent psychologists consider this an essential procedure to safeguard mental health. The showing of grief by family and friends, while the body lies in state, also aids the distraught survivors to accept and adjust to the reality of death.

Respectfully,

Man Charged In Park Burglary

A young Amarillo man has been charged in connection with the March 12 burglary of Goodnight Trading Post in Palo Duro Canyon.

Three juveniles were handled by juvenile authorities in connection with the case.

Charged in the burglary in which about $150 worth of jewelry and souvenirs were taken is Clifford Smith, 17 years old, Amarillo. He was released from Randall County jail Saturday after posting $1,000 bond.

Juvenile Probation officer Woody Pond said one juvenile was placed on administrative probation, another turned over to the Potter County Probation department and another turned over to officials from Hutchinson county where he already was on probation.

Recil Johnson, Randall County deputy sheriff, investigated the burglary.

Johnson said he had been talking to a youngster who was in jail about some horses and saddles which had been taken March 18 from the Joe Carver stables in the canyon and used without the owner's consent.

He said the boy told him about the Goodnight Trading Post burglary. Johnson said entry to the trading post was gained through a bathroom window.

Johnson said some of the jewelry from the trading post has been recovered. However, he said that some time Saturday morning--while he was investigating the previous burglary--a tray of jewelry valued at $700 was taken from the trading post which is owned by JoZach Byrd.
